Race for the Cure—ABWA Team braves crowds

Among the throngs of vendors, volunteers, racers, supporters... look who we ran into—promoting their healthier menu choices.

The Denver Komen Race for the Cure is one of the most attended events in the nation and thousands of racers, walkers, and supporters braved the chilly morning and threatening weather predictions and actually enjoyed a lovely day!

Charmiane Berry, Lynn Lightell, and Robin Neal participated in the 1K Family Walk near the Pepsi Center. Perhaps next year we can have an earlier commitment by more members and make it a bigger team experience! The crowds were huge and ranged in age from barely a handful to "older than willing to admit" and many of the walkers were survivors of breast cancer. Throughout, the message that breast health and early detection are key for survival.
